EVENT: Meeting of MSU's Board of Regents

DATE: Monday, March 10, 1997

TIME: 11 a.m.

SITE: Riggle Room, Adron Doran University Center

NOTE: The Administration and Fiscal Services Committee will hold a public meeting at 9 a.m. in the Riggle Room.

The board agenda contains a number of items for discussion and/or action, including election of officers, ratification of honorary doctorate awards, approval of sabbatical leave requests, revisions to policy on sabbatical leaves of absence, approval of tenure and promotions for 1997-98 and a preliminary report on spring enrollment.

The regents will be asked to accept the second quarter financial report, ratify a series of personnel actions, amend several personnel policies related to the reassignment of employees, ratify an amendment to the policy on severe weather conditions or disaster, approve policies related to health insurance reserve and approve Phase II of the Student Wellness Center.

Reports are expected on external agreements, personal-service contracts and major gifts since Nov. 1, 1996.

NOTE: The MSU Board of Regents will conduct an open forum with students, faculty and staff from 1 to 2:30 p.m. in the Crager Room, Adron Doran University.

Also scheduled at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, March 25, is a budget workshop for the board members to be held in the Heritage Room, Adron Doran University Center. If six or more regents should be present, this could constitute a called meeting of the board.

Media representatives planning to attend the March 10 meeting are asked to notify the Office of Institutional Relations (606-783-2030) by noon Friday, March 7, so that sufficient support materials will be available.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University's Army ROTC Program, which was established almost three decades ago, is alive and flourishing today.

With a significant increase in freshman cadets combined with the high quality of the senior cadet class, MSU's program has received approval from the Department of the Army to continue, according to MSU President Ronald G. Eaglin.

The Army had targeted several programs nationwide to be closed down this spring, including MSU. "That's not going to happen here after all thanks to the hard work of the campus ROTC cadre and the support of our U.S. senators, Wendell Ford and Mitch McConnell," said Dr. Eaglin. "Our senators recognized what this program means not only to Eastern Kentucky students but also to those across the state."

Lt. Col. Brian Crotts, chair of MSU's Department of Military Science since last fall, noted that the program has made great strides since being placed on the Army's ROTC endangered list two years ago.

"We doubled the number of cadets this fall," Crotts said. "The Army gave us a goal of 57 new freshmen for this fall and we recruited 150. Also, MSU was one of 13 schools out of 99 in our region to receive the "T" rating, the highest, for the quality of our cadets attending advanced camp last summer," Crotts added.

Downplaying his role in the program's turn around, Crotts praised the efforts of the University's administration and the military science staff under the leadership of his predecessor, Maj. Ralph Shoaf. "For the first time since the early 1990s, we will meet our commissioning quota this May with 9 cadets scheduled to be commissioned as second lieutenants and that is primarily a result of Major Shoaf's efforts," Crotts said.

ROTC

"Regional schools like MSU are very important to the Army, because 55 percent of the current Army is in reserves and MSU serves those reserve components," Crotts said.

Continuation of MSU's ROTC program is largely due to the support of the University's president and its market potential in Eastern Kentucky, according to ROTC 2nd Region Commander Col. Gregory A. Lowe of Fort Knox. "There's a student market in Eastern Kentucky that we just can't walk away from," Lowe added.

"We have provided the program with a full staff cadre and, with the support the University is providing, we believe the Army owes the University the opportunity to be successful," Lowe said. "It was a combination of that market potential, the quality of the program and the support given by the University that made us reconsider our earlier recommendation," Lowe added.

Crotts said that in the 19 years he has been in the Army he had seen few groups, if any, with the current staff's level of dedication. "They got out the message, making students aware of the benefits available through a college ROTC program," he said.

Under the Army ROTC program, college students may qualify for scholarships, receive a $150 monthly stipend and gain invaluable leadership training.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Applications are now being accepted for Morehead State University's art enrichment program for children which will run from April 15 through May 1 in 216 Claypool-Young Art Building on campus.

The program is designed to allow MSU students to gain teaching experience and area children the opportunity to explore various aspects of art, according to Dr. Jay Hanes, assistant professor of art and coordinator of the program.

"Students will be placed in two groups by age," Dr. Hanes said. They will study various visual objects including Stonehenge, the Statue of Liberty, Pacific Northwest ceremonial masks, mosaics, Ukrainian decorated eggs and paintings by Paul Klee. Each week students will explore a production process to make their own creative works of art," he added.

The program, which is geared toward children 5 to 10 years of age, will run from 3:45 until 4:45 p.m. each Tuesday and Thursday. Instruction will be provided by MSU students who are advanced elementary education majors.

The registration fee is $10 which includes materials. The program is limited to 30 students which will be accepted on a first come, first serve basis.

Additional information and registration are available by calling (606) 784-7296.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University's Department of Leadership and Secondary Education will sponsor a conference on adolescent grief on Friday, March 28, on the campus.

The conference, entitled "Grief/Loss Workshop," will explore how youth deal with death, necessary conditions for healing, risk factors and clinical indicators of mourning and treatment for those experiencing traumatic loss, according to Dr. Wanda Staley, assistant professor of education and conference coordinator.

The day long session will begin with registration at 8:30 a.m. in the Adron Doran University Center, with the program to start at 9 a.m. Mary Ann Emswiler, co-founder and managing director of the New England Center for Loss and Transition and editor of the "Grief Letter," will lead the discussion.

Emswiler, a frequent presenter on loss in childhood, spoke at more than two dozen medical-related programs last year. She received an M.S. degree in clinical psychology from the University of Hartford where she received the Julian Stretfelt Award for the highest academic achievement in her graduating class. She received an M.B.A. degree from Xavier University in Cincinnati and M.P.S. degree from Loyola University in Chicago.

Those wishing to register will pay $50, or $35 for students, which includes lunch, when reservations are made by the early registration deadline of March 12. After that, the one-day fee will be $75, or $50 for students, and does not include lunch.

Six hours of Continuing Education Credits have been approved by the National Board of Certified Counselors (NBCC), Kentucky Educational Leadership Credit and MSU for those who complete the conference.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---The award-winning series "Jazz Classics in Stereo" will return for its fourth season on WMKY 90.3 FM, listener-supported public radio from Morehead State University.

The program may be heard on Saturdays at 8 p.m. during March. This series will feature 18 one-hour programs and include performances by jazz greats such as Louis Armstrong, Billie Holliday, Fats Waller and Jelly Roll Morton.

Modern audiences will hear some rarely heard performances, thanks to Robert Parker, producer and program host, who draws from his personal collection of rare 78 rpm records. His innovative stereo-enhances process has been described by "Time" magazine as a "miracle in sound restoration" that is a delight to both young and old listeners alike.

MOREHEAD, Ky.—Thousands of Kentuckians were directly affected by the Vietnam War. Now, they have the opportunity to share their experiences.

During the next year, Dr. Yvonne Baldwin and Dr. John Ernst, Morehead State University assistant professors of history, will interview Kentuckians who participated in the conflict or were significantly affected by it in some way. They also are seeking documents and personal papers, including correspondence, diaries and photographs related to the war.

The study is being funded by a $4,530 grant from the Kentucky Oral History Commission and matching funds from MSU.

"Many people believe they don't have much to tell about the war," said Dr. Baldwin. "If you were involved in any way, you have a story to tell, and no story is too small."

Entitled "Vietnam and Kentucky: An Oral History of the War," the study will expand on previous, more localized projects. The first statewide study done of the Commonwealth, it will result in the creation of a usable archive composed of both oral history interviews and documentary evidence that will be available to researchers at MSU's Camden-Carroll Library and the Oral History Commission.

One of the first stages in the project will be to identify individuals who served and others who were affected by the war, Dr. Baldwin said. "We will include a variety of viewpoints and experiences, including public perceptions of the war and its impact on the lives of individuals, families and communities," she added.

The idea for the project originated in a class the two faculty members team taught at the University. "Many students wrote about the Vietnam War's impact on their families or their hometowns," said Dr. Baldwin. "It was obvious that their curiosity and enthusiasm for the subject were genuine."

Dr. Baldwin and Dr. Ernst hope to reach as many Kentuckians as possible. "We are interested in the stories of soldiers, nurses, volunteers, USO personnel, clergy, journalists, draft board officials--anyone from the state who was involved in the conflict in Vietnam or influenced by it in significant ways," she said. "We are soliciting the donation or loan of original papers to be microfilmed. These documents will provide valuable information to students of the war, but perhaps more importantly, they will be preserved for posterity," she added.

Those interested in sharing their experiences of the Vietnam War may contact Dr. Baldwin at (606) 783-5160 or Dr. Ernst at (606) 783-2484.

MSU TELEGIVING

Coulter "Rich" Boyle, Ashland graduate student majoring in communications and the son of Dick and Judy Boyle, is one of several Morehead State University students assisting with the "telegiving" phase of the University's annual giving program. During the phonathons, which are conducted each fall and spring semester, students will be calling nearly 40,000 alumni and other friends of MSU seeking financial support for various programs. This year's goal is $150,000 in pledges.

MSU CHEERLEADERS MAKE TROPHY PRESENTATION

Morehead State University's varsity cheerleaders formally presented their eighth national championship trophy to the University at a home basketball game earlier this year. Accepting the award was MSU President Ronald G. Eaglin, center. At right is Myron Doan, the team's coach. The victory at the 1997 National College Cheerleading Championships in Orlando, Fla., marked the seventh consecutive national title for the squad. The trophy will be permanently displayed in the Academic-Athletic Center.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University's campus newspaper, The Trail Blazer, earned six first place awards in a recent statewide competition sponsored by the Kentucky Intercollegiate Press Association.

The awards were presented at the annual KIPA Convention in Louisville on March 1.

Student newspaper staff members at all Kentucky colleges and universities were eligible to compete in a variety of categories, including news, opinion, sports, features, page design and advertising.

Entries were judged by staff members from nearly a dozen newspapers, including the Lexington Herald-Leader, Cincinnati Enquirer, Charleston (W.Va.) Daily Mail, Daily Independent (Ashland), and the Ledger-Independent (Maysville).

Trail Blazer staff members earning awards were:

David Gross, Jackson senior, first places in deadline copy editing and review;

Melissa McGuire Cornett, Morehead (formerly of West Liberty) senior, first place, feature story and second place, sports news story;

Hyla MacGregor, Nicholasville senior, first place, editorial;

Jeremy Cox, Fort Mitchell junior, first places, advertising art and advertising campaign;

Lee Miller, Apple Creek, Ohio, senior, third place, advertising design;

Peter Bauer, Georgetown, Ohio, graduate student, second place, advertising copy;

Whitney Halsey, Harrodsburg senior, honorable mention, advertising design;

The Trail Blazer finished third in first place awards among seven newspapers in the major schools division.

The Kentucky Kernel, the University of Kentucky's student newspaper, and the College Heights Herald of Western Kentucky University both earned nine first place awards. Eastern Kentucky University's Eastern Progress received five and the Murray State News received four first place awards.

Joan Atkins, MSU assistant professor of journalism and Trail Blazer adviser, presided at the convention, finishing up a two-year term as KIPA executive secretary. Joe Hedges of Murray State University was elected to the post for a two-year term.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Dalana Marie Hall, a 22-year-old senior from Burlington, emerged the winner in the 1997 Miss Morehead State University Scholarship Pageant (March 8).

She will now vie for the state title in the Miss Kentucky Pageant which will be held at Transylvania University, June 19-21.

Hall, an electronic media major, sang "His Eye is on the Sparrow" for the MSU competition. Before the Miss Kentucky pageant, she plans to select a new song, take voice lessons and do some physical training.

The daughter of Ron and Carol Schweitzer, Hall hopes to graduate from MSU in December, then work on a master's degree at University of Cincinnati with the goal of becoming an anchor or news broadcaster in the Cincinnati area. She is currently on the staff of NewsCenter 12 and is a member of Gamma Phi Beta social sorority and Rho Lambda.

Along with the title, Hall received a $1,200 scholarship and an official Miss America crown.

Other winners in the pageant were Jane Osborne Short, first runner-up. The daughter of Joe and Billy Jane Short of Paintsville, she is a senior history and speech/theatre education major. She received a $1,000 scholarship.

The second place winner was Christina Marie Leavitt, the daughter of Mary Jo Leavitt and the late Michael Leavitt of Pendleton, Ind. A senior dietetics major, she received a $750 scholarship.

La'Tonya Renee Merriweather, the daughter of Valerie Gail Davis and Carlos A. Merriweather, both of Louisville, was the third runner-up. A junior psychology major, she received a $500 scholarship.

Winning the scholastic award of $150 was April Dawn Caines of Belfry. She is the daughter of James and Connie Caines and a junior radio-television major.

The Miss MSU Scholarship Pageant, sponsored by the University's Student Government Association and Panhellenic and Interfraternity Councils, is a preliminary to the Miss America Pageant.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Two country music stars from Eastern Kentucky will receive honorary degrees from Morehead State University at spring commencement ceremonies on May 17.

At its meeting Monday (March 10), the University's Board of Regents approved awarding honorary Doctor of Musical Arts degrees to Tom T. Hall and Ricky Skaggs, following a unanimous recommendation from the ad hoc honorary degree advisory committee. The committee is composed of active and retired faculty and staff members as well as a representative from the MSU Alumni Association.

A native of Carter County, Tom T. Hall has built an international reputation as a singer, songwriter and author. Recognized with major awards from the Country Music Association and the Grammys, he is a member of the Songwriters Hall of Fame and has recorded 34 albums and performed around the world with his band, The Storytellers.

Lawrence County native Ricky Skaggs has succeeded the late Bill Monroe as the dominant figure in bluegrass music. When invited to join the Grand Ole Opry in 1982, he was the youngest member in the history of that acclaimed troupe of country music performers in Nashville. Winner of four Grammys and eight CMA awards, he was the CMA's 1985 entertainer of the year.

In other business, the board authorized the sale of revenue bonds to support the second construction phase of the Wellness Center which has a $1.9 million project scope.

Phase I, completed last August at a cost of $575,000, excluding equipment, was funded by a special $10 addition to the Student Activity Fee and faculty/staff health insurance available balances. The current 3,920-square-foot facility includes an exercise area, assessment lab, conference room, locker rooms and offices.

Phase II preliminary plans called for 25,500 usable square feet, including a multi-purpose room with tennis courts and walking track, classroom, expanded locker space and an aerobics area. However, with usage of the Wellness Center surpassing expectations, MSU officials are re-evaluating the space uses in both the existing and proposed facility. The average daily attendance this spring is 306 members.

The regents also approved three sabbatical leave requests, granted tenure to 13 faculty members and promoted six of those newly-tenured faculty members to associate professor.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---A legendary president, a military logistics expert and an independent television producer will be inducted into Morehead State University's Alumni Hall of Fame as part of the University's 1997 Founders Day celebration on Friday, April 4.

This year's inductees are:

Dr. Adron Doran of Lexington, who served as MSU president from 1954 to 1977;

U.S. Army Col. Mark W. Dille of Weisbaden, Germany, currently chief of staff, 3rd Corps Support Command;

Linda Steiner of Glendale, Calif., president and executive producer of 1.85 Film Productions and former vice president of ABC Children's Entertainment.

They will be recognized as distinguished graduates during the annual Alumni Awards Dinner at 6:30 p.m. in the Adron Doran University Center. The dinner is one of many public activities planned to launch a year-long celebration of MSU's 75th anniversary as a state institution of higher learning.

Other events include the Convocation and Awards Ceremony, which will open with an academic procession at 10:30 a.m. in Button Auditorium. MSU's Founders Day Award for University Service will be presented at this time also. Following the convocation is a noon luncheon at which time nearly 30 new MSU Fellows and other benefactors of the University will be honored.

The day's events continue with the 2 p.m. dedication of the W. Paul and Lucille C. Little Bell Tower, located in front of Camden-Carroll Library. The program will include a concert on the tower's electronic carillon and a cake and ice cream social on the lawn of the nearby President's Home.

Dr. Doran, MSU's seventh president, is considered by many as the father of the institution in modern times. A two-time graduate of Murray State University with a doctorate in education from the University of Kentucky, he also served four terms in the Kentucky House of Representatives, including one as Speaker of the House.

(MORE)

Active nationally, Dr. Doran was the 1971 recipient of the Horatio Alger Award given by the Association of American Schools and Colleges. He also received the Lincoln Key Award from the Kentucky Education Association and the Lincoln Foundation for the integration of MSU "without fanfare or incident."

A minister of the Church of Christ since 1928, today Dr. Doran devotes much of his time to research, writing and lecturing on the history of the American Restoration Movement.

Dille, who earned his A.B. degree in education in 1973, was commissioned a second lieutenant in the U.S. Army through MSU's ROTC program. As an MSU student, he played on the 1973 OVC championship baseball team.

Moving up through the ranks as a truck company commander and battalion staff officer, he completed advanced officer courses in transportation and logistics and holds a master's degree in logistics management. He also attended the Army War College.

He has served as executive officer, 101st Airborne Division (Air Assault), Division Support Command. Authorized to wear the Air Assault Badge he also earned the Bronze Star, the Meritorious Service Medal with two oak leaf clusters and the Army Commendation Medal with two oak leaf clusters. In July, the Dayton, Ohio, native will take command of the 16th Corps Support Group in Hanau, Germany, with a troop strength of 2,500 men and women.

Steiner earned her A.B. degree in radio/television and advertising/public relations in 1984. While with ABC Children's Entertainment, she directed and managed the creative development, production, marketing and scheduling of ABC's five hours of Saturday morning programming for children as well as the network's award-winning Afterschool Specials.

She also was responsible for the creation, production and marketing of the educational series, "Schoolhouse Rock." Today, her own company creates children's and family programs for ABC, CBS, Fox, Nickelodeon and the Disney Channel.

The Lexington native has won multiple Emmy Awards and is the recipient of the Humanitas Prize for outstanding achievement in the creation of television programs and feature films which "fully communicate enriching human values."

"Colonel Dille and Ms. Steiner have achieved great distinction in their respective fields, bringing recognition to their alma mater," said H. Jack Webb, MSU Alumni Association president. "While not a graduate, Dr. Doran is an integral part of this institution's history. We are proud to add the names of all three individuals to this roll of distinguished alumni," he added.

MOREHEAD, Ky.----Invitations are in the mail for Morehead State University's fifth annual spring gala, "An Affair To Remember," which will be held Saturday evening, April 26.

A benefit for MSU's academic programs, the gala provides a memorable evening of entertainment, highlighting the talents of the University's faculty, students and alumni.

"Our theme this year was selected to tie in with the University's year-long celebration of its 75th anniversary as a state institution of higher learning," said Mrs. Bonnie Eaglin. "An event that many of the region's residents eagerly await, the gala provides the perfect venue for us to showcase the talents of our students, faculty and alumni and raise money to enhance our academic programs," she added.

Guests this year will be treated to the premiere of "Through the Years," a musical revue taking the audience down memory lane from 1922 to present day. More music is in store for gala-goers as the scene shifts from Button Auditorium to the Adron Doran University Center where classical and jazz fusion sounds will emanate, while music from swing and big bands to rock and roll will alternate for guests' dancing pleasure.

In addition to the sounds, the evening includes memories of fashions and musical ensembles from the past to present as well as games from hula hoops to computer games.

Gala-goers may choose between two packages for the evening, both have a reservation deadline of April 11. The deluxe package which is $125 per person begins at 6 p.m. at Adron Doran University Center with a reception, followed by dinner at 6:30 p.m. Valet parking will be provided.

Those selecting the second level package at $50 per person will begin their evening at 7:30 p.m. in Button Drill Room for a social period with hors d'oeuvres.

At 8 p.m., the entertainment for all begins with the musical revue in Button Auditorium. Afterwards the party moves to ADUC for more music, dancing, games and fun and food.

Also last year's addition, the cash drawing, will be repeated with a grand prize of $5,000 and several $1,000 prizes to be given away during the evening. Tickets for the drawing are $50 each and buyers need not be present to win. Ticket information is available from Bill Redwine, director of alumni relations and development, at (606) 783-2080 or 1-800-783-2586.

Gala Invitations

"The past four galas have raised more than $125,000, enabling various academic departments to purchase equipment, provide enrichment experiences for students and for outreach programs in the region," Mrs. Eaglin said.

"Those who have attended previous galas know that the evening is truly memorable," said Mrs. Eaglin. "We invite all of the University's friends to join us as we revisit the past this year with 'An Affair To Remember'."

The members of the Spring Gala executive committee are Mrs. Eaglin, Dr. Christopher Gallaher and Susette Redwine. Assisting them with the planning and arrangements for the evening is a steering committee whose membership includes Mrs. Pat Goodpaster of Ashland, Lisa Browning of Mt. Sterling, Mrs. Betty Wood of Maysville and the following members of the campus and Morehead community: Al Baldwin, Dr. Yvonne Baldwin, Dr. Lemuel Berry, Mrs. Dee Biebighauser, Mrs. Laradean Brown, Dr. Michael Carrell, Mrs. Bobbie Caudill, Dr. Janice Daniel, Robert Franzini, Robert Hayes, Mrs. Sharon Jackson, Clara Keyes, Dr. William Layne, Mrs. Joyce LeMaster, Dr. Travis Lockhart, Dr. Sue Luckey, Mrs. Julia Martin, Mrs. Lynn Pack, Mrs. Betty Philley and Mrs. Janet Ratliff.

Anyone interested in more information on the gala or on how to obtain a ticket may contact the Office of the President at (606) 783-2022.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---The Xi Gamma Chapter of Sigma Gamma Rho, Inc., social sorority at Morehead State University has designed a weeklong celebration, March 31-April 6, to promote unity on the campus.

"Sigma week is a time to celebrate the true meaning of sisterhood," said Shanedra Nolden, Morehead senior and the chapter's president. "We want to promote unity with all organizations, both Greeks and non-Greeks as well.

Kicking off the week on Monday, March 31, will be a "Stress Workshop" presented by Judy Krug, student wellness coordinator. The session gets underway at 5:30 p.m. in East Room A, Adron Doran University Center.

On Tuesday, April 1, it's "Study With Sigma Night." Everyone is encouraged to attend the study session in Camden-Carroll Library from 6 to 9 p.m.

Contestants may sign up for the "Unity Pageant" set for Wednesday, April 2, in Button Auditorium. The pageant, co-sponsored by Gamma Phi Beta, Inc., will include competition in casual/sports clothes, after five attire, and business wear as well as a talent presentation. Participants also will be asked questions about issues which are of concern today. There is a $2 admission fee to the pageant.

"Sigma Splash" is on tap for Thursday, April 3, when all attendants may swim in the pool at the Academic-Athletic Center from 6 to 8 p.m.

Rounding out the evening entertainment is a party on Friday and Saturday nights. On Friday, April 4, it's a '70s party while Saturday, it's a Pajama Party in Button Drill Room. Admission is $1 for those in costume or $2 if not dressed in the party theme. The entertainment begins at 10 p.m.

Concluding the week will be a worship experience on Sunday, April 6, in Breckinridge Auditorium, beginning at noon. The guest speaker will be the Rev. Barry Yokum, assistant pastor at the York Street Missionary Baptist Church in Louisville.

There is no charge for attending the activities unless otherwise noted. Additional information is available from Nolden at (606) 783-2416 or La'Tonya Merriweather, Louisville junior and the chapter's vice president, at (606) 783-4303.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---April is Classical Music Month and WMKY 90.3, listener supported radio from Morehead State University, will celebrate by offering "Classical Kids Radio," a program produced exclusively for Public Radio International.

This award-winning series introduces both children and adults to the joys of classical music. Each program is 59 minutes and features a combination of dramatic storytelling and classical music to introduce some great composers as heroes for today's world.

The series includes:

- "Beethoven Lives Upstairs," Friday, April 4, at 3 p.m. The arrival of an eccentric boarder (Ludwig Von Beethoven) turns a young boy's life upside-down. The boy, Cristoph, soon comes to understand the genius, torment and beauty of the composer's works. Music will include Symphonies no. 4 & 5, Violin "Spring Sonata," and Fur Elise.
- "Tchaikovsky Discovers America," Friday, April 11, at 3 p.m. The composer visits New York City for the opening of Carnegie Hall where he meets a family who learns of his life in Russia, his love of music and his fear of conducting. In the end, both discover something about courage and about themselves. Music will include Swan Lake, The Nutcracker, Sleeping Beauty and The 1812 Overture.
- "Vivaldi's Ring of Mystery," Friday, April 18, at 3 p.m. A gifted young violinist, Katarina, is sent to Venice to study music under the tutelage of the famous Vivaldi. Katarina enlists the help of Giovanni, a gondolier, in her search to discover her heritage. Works of music include Four Seasons, The Double Trumpet Concerto, La Notte, and the Violin Concerto in A minor.
- "Mr. Bach Comes to Call," Friday, April 25, at 3 p.m. Eight-year-old Elizabeth reluctantly practices the piano until the magical arrival of Johann Sebastian Bach. He reminisces about his life, music, children and devotion to the church. Musical excerpts include "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," Brandenburg Concerto #5, Art of Fugue, and Flute Sonatas.

Each program will include the original recordings combined with interesting anecdotes, commentary, interviews, and discussions with "Classical Kids" producer Susan Hammond.

WMKY, an affiliate of National Public Radio and Public Radio International, features news and information, classical music and other musical genres, broadcasting from 6 a.m. to midnight seven days a week. Free program guides are available by calling 1-800-286-WMKY.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---U.S. Rep. Ron Lewis (2nd District) will be the featured speaker for Morehead State University's Founders Day on Friday, April 4.

Lewis, the first MSU alumnus to serve in Congress, will speak at the Founders Day Convocation and Awards Ceremony at 10:30 a.m. in Button Auditorium. MSU's Founders Day Award for University Service also will be presented at the convocation.

The son of a tobacco farmer, Lewis was born in a log cabin in Greenup County and raised in South Shore. He holds a master's degree in higher education from MSU and a baccalaureate degree in history and political science from the University of Kentucky.

Armco Steel Corporation, the Kentucky Highway Department and Eastern State Hospital were some of his earlier employers. Lewis entered the U.S. Navy's Officer Candidate School, but received an honorable medical discharge because of a kidney ailment.

The congressman also worked in sales for several companies, including Ashland Oil, before a five-year teaching stint at Watterson College. A Baptist minister, he served as pastor for White Mills Baptist Church and later opened his own small business in Elizabethtown.

Elected to Congress in 1994 to fill a seat held for 41 years by the late William Natcher, Lewis became the first Republican in 129 years to represent the 2nd District. Lewis recently was elected chair of the Congressional Family Caucus, a group of House members who meet weekly to discuss conservative solutions to problems facing the nation's families.

In the House, he is a member of the Military Procurement and Military Personnel subcommittees of the National Security Committee as well as the Risk Management and Specialty Crops subcommittee and Resource Conservation, Research and Forestry subcommittee of the Agricultural Committee. He also is a member of the GOP Task Force on Regulatory Reform.

Lewis has co-authored legislation (the Ewing-Lewis Amendment) in fiscal 1996 and 1997 Labor, Health and Human Services appropriations bills to help keep college loans available for students borrowing from small banks and credit unions.

Founders Day Convocation

With Founders Day 1997, the University launches a year-long celebration of its 75th anniversary as a public institution of higher learning. While MSU dates back to 1887 when its predecessor opened its doors as a private institution, it was in 1922 that MSU became part of the state system.

Following the convocation is a noon luncheon at which time more than 30 new MSU Fellows and other benefactors of the University will be honored.

Founders Day begins with a special breakfast for retired faculty and staff at which Dr. Eaglin will recognize new retirees. Planned at 2 p.m. is the dedication of the W. Paul and Lucille C. Little Bell Tower, located in front of Camden-Carroll Library. The program will include a concert on the tower's electronic carillon and a cake and ice cream social on the lawn of the nearby President's Home.

Capping the day will be the Alumni Awards Dinner at 6:30 p.m., highlighted by the induction of three new members into the Alumni Hall of Fame: Dr. Adron Doran, who served as MSU president from 1954 to 1977; U.S. Army Col. Mark W. Dille (Class of 1973), chief of staff, 3rd Corps Support Command in Weisbaden, Germany, and Linda Steiner (Class of 1984), president and executive producer of 1.85 Film Productions and former vice president of ABC Children's Entertainment.

Luncheon tickets are $6 per person, while those for dinner will be $15 each. Tickets will be available in the Office of Student Activities on the second floor of ADUC, at the Alumni Center and the MSU Foundation in the Palmer Development House. Tickets must be picked up no later than 4:30 p.m. on Tuesday, April 1. The Crager Room, ADUC, will be site for all meal events.

Additional information on tickets or Founders Day events may be obtained by calling the Alumni Center at (606) 783-2080 or toll-free at 1-800-783-2586 and the MSU Foundation at (606) 783-2031 or toll-free at 1-800-833-4483.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---WMKY 90.3 FM, listener supported radio from Morehead State University, will broadcast two new programs beginning April 6.

"Will the Circle Be Unbroken?," a personal history of the Civil Rights movement in five southern communities, may be heard on Sundays at 2:30 p.m., and "The 1997 Spoleto Chamber Music Series," produced by the South Carolina Educational Network, will be aired Sundays at noon.

A documentary series, "Will the Circle Be Unbroken?" emphasizes the work of several people from all walks of life who were the unknown heroes of that era. The story is told through the words of men and women who watched and made, and sometimes tried to stop, one of America's social movements.

"The 1997 Spoleto Chamber Music Series" showcases new talent in world-class chamber music. The historic Dock Street Theatre in South Carolina hosts the collection of young international artists being featured in performances that will include works by such composers as Vivaldi, Mozart, Beethoven and Strauss. The 13 different programs will range from Baroque to Classic to Contemporary.

Charles Wadsworth, who established the Spoleto series 20 years ago, is the show's host. He has been hailed by the New York Times as the power behind the chamber music room.

WMKY, an affiliate of National Public Radio and Public Radio International, features news and information, classical music and other musical genres, broadcasting from 6 a.m. to midnight seven days a week. Free program guides are available by calling 1-800-286-WMKY.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University's Student Government Association will soon have another way to get the word out to students about programs and activities.

The SGA has received funds for an electronic message board to be used "to increase student involvement," said Jason Newland, president of the Association.

According to Newland, SGA wanted to improve communication to the campus community. "The message board was determined to be the best option as a way to broadcast messages to students regarding academic dates, campus events, student events and other important information," he said.

The board, which Newland believes should be installed and operational by the end of the semester, will be located on the exterior of the Adron Doran University Center where it will be highly visible to students, faculty and staff. The University Center houses the Office of Student Activities as well as the Mainstreet food court, University Bookstore, post office and game room.

Among those contributing the $20,000 needed for the project include the MSU Foundation, Inc., MSU Family Association, Office of the President and SGA. Additional information is available from Larry Stephenson, director of student activities, at (606) 783-2071.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Dr. Susan D. Creasap, Morehead State University assistant professor of music education, has been awarded the Silver Baton by the Women Band Directors National Association (WBDNA).

The award is given to those members who have made outstanding contributions to the improvement of bands in America while maintaining high levels of performance for the bands they direct. Dr. Creasap, vice president of WBDNA, serves as MSU's assistant director of bands and director of the Marching Band.

Prior to coming to the University last year, Dr. Creasap was director of bands at Clarion University in Pennsylvania and has worked in public school systems in Pennsylvania and Tennessee. She is active as a guest conductor, adjudicator and clinician.

A member of several national and international music associations, Dr. Creasap received her doctorate in wind band conducting from Ball State University, her master's degree from the University of Minnesota and her bachelor's degree from Indiana University of Pennsylvania.

She holds professional memberships in a number of organizations including College Band Directors National Association, American School Band Directors Association, College Music Society, Music Educators National Conference, National Band Association, Delta Omicron International Honorary Fraternity for Women and the International Horn Society. She is a past recipient of the National Band Association's "Citation of Excellence" and "Award of Excellence" and received the Tennessee Governor's School of the Arts Outstanding Teacher Award.

The WBDNA, established at MSU in 1969, allows women in instrumental music the opportunity to discuss musical issues and to promote the growth of women within the profession.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Some people will do anything to get what they want; for Teresa Vincent, that means helping students get good grades in some difficult classes. These are courses that are considered high risk that normally have a greater than average student failure rate.

With her method of teaching, Vincent, an instructor of biology at Morehead State University, reports that all students who attend her classes pass with a grade of C or better. Statistics compiled from last semester give retention rates for biology at 98 percent and 84 percent for anatomy.

Vincent is always looking for new teaching strategies to help her attain her goal of being a good teacher. While attending a workshop on "Weed-Eater Courses: Retention Strategies" in late '95, she learned a different approach that she has used to change a 50 percent failure rate in human anatomy to a 70 percent A or B with only a 30 percent C or below.

"Students want a teacher to make the learning environment fun, interesting and exciting," Vincent said. "That is exactly what I try to do with whatever the subject is for that day."

The first day of class is the most important day for the teacher to bond with the students, according to Vincent, who tries to give the best first impression. She begins by standing outside the classroom and shaking hands with each of the students. Once inside, she gives them some history, both personal and academic, before discussing what she expects of them.

At one point during this first class meeting, Vincent dons a graduation cap and gown and pins on a $100 bill to make a statement. "They have to have a goal of graduation no matter what field of study they are pursuing," she said. "And whatever field they choose, it should enable them to make money to earn a living." She also stresses having a positive attitude because "you are what you create," learning to organize your time to study and getting a "study buddy."

Other ways she helps the students is by providing a written outline, leaving a space to fill in the notes for each lecture, providing additional information to keep them on their toes and daily quizzes or writings. For the more difficult courses, such as human anatomy, she uses multimedia to enhance the lecture. "This helps the students learn more as well as holds their attention when they can see moving parts of the body or surgeries on video," said Vincent.

Vincent
2-2-2-2-2

For the Introduction to Biology classes, she also invites guest lecturers who can give a different perspective to the class. Among those visiting her last semester was Stephan Porter, regional manager at the U.S. Geological Survey from Denver, Colo., who talked about metals such as arsenic in the streams and what can be done to prevent it ending up in water supplies.

For Vincent, the student-teacher relationship does not end with class. Besides keeping regular office hours, she is available for study sessions which she notes are well-attended before test time and even calls those students she believes to be slipping into a danger zone with their grades.

Before coming to MSU in 1992, Vincent held a number of research assistantships at the University of Kentucky where she earned a Master of Science degree. She recently completed research and course work and is a May candidate for a doctorate in biology from UK. She earned a B.A. degree in provisional biology and secondary education from Transylvania University and a liberal arts degree from Midway College.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---A Morehead State University professor's study of rabies in Kentucky will be among those presentations made at the 1997 Association of American Geographers meeting in Fort Worth, Texas, next week.

Dr. Andrew J. Curtis, assistant professor of geography, is scheduled to present his work on Saturday, April 5. In the talk, based on his paper "The Spatial and Seasonal Distribution of Rabies in Kentucky," he will discuss the disease's spread from 1989 to 1996.

This is extremely important to Kentuckians since there was a human death attributed to the disease in October 1996, according to statistics from the state's Department of Health. "My goal was to identify any spatial pattern in developing a predictive model of rabies spread," he said.

Based on data collected during the study period, Dr. Curtis notes that the animals found to be most frequently infected with rabies was the skunk, with the fox, dog and bat also being carriers of the disease.

In his presentation, Dr. Curtis will present maps for each of the years, illustrating the numbers of those animals which tested positive for rabies. Utilizing the maps to fill in the gaps, he will share predictions where he expects cases to exist in the surrounding counties. The findings are based on a process known as a spatial filter.

"This method takes into consideration the likely range of rabid animals and the number of positive cases of rabies within that range," he said.

With these results, counties that have fewer cases of rabies than expected, or none at all, can then be investigated for potential reasons, Dr. Curtis noted. Some potential reasons cited by the researcher may be underreporting, lower human populations leading to lower human-animal interactions, and physiographic reasons such as elevation resulting in lower animal densities.

Dr. Curtis hopes that the results from a filter methodology such as this, along with further investigation into climatic associations with the disease may lead to the future development of a predictive model explaining the likely spread of rabies across the state.

A frequent presenter at professional meetings, Dr. Curtis has done research in spatial patterns in medical geography, spatial knowledge surfaces, spatial choice modeling, migration patterns and locational analysis. An MSU faculty member since 1995, he earned his Ph.D. and master's degrees from the University of Buffalo and a bachelor's degree with honors from Portsmouth Polytechnic in England.

Additional information on the study is available from Dr. Curtis at (606) 783-2825.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Two individuals who have been part of the institution's rich history will be recipients of the Morehead State University Founders Day Award for University Service for 1997.

Robert S. Bishop of Morehead, whose family ties to MSU date back to the original Morehead Normal School, and K. Martin Huffman (posthumously) who gave unselfishly of his time and talents to enrich the lives of countless students, will be the award recipients.

They will be honored during the annual Founders Day Convocation and Awards Ceremony on Friday, April 4, at 10:30 a.m. in Button Auditorium.

Established in 1978 by the Board of Regents, the award is presented annually to recognize those who have given superior service over the years to the University. MSU Board of Regents Member John M. Rosenberg will make the presentations.

With Founders Day, MSU launches a yearlong celebration of its 75th anniversary as a state institution of higher education, using the theme "Rich Heritage, Bright Future."

"Bob Bishop and Martin Huffman, each in his own way, have helped shape this institution," said MSU President Ronald G. Eaglin. "Mr. Bishop has always been there for this University, watching us grow and supporting us whenever we needed his help. One can only marvel at the legacy of brotherhood Martin Huffman left behind as he molded the character of the students whom he advised and counseled," Dr. Eaglin said.

The featured speaker for the convocation is U.S. Rep. Ron Lewis (2nd District Ky.), who is the first MSU alumnus to serve in Congress. MSU classes scheduled for 10:20 and 11:30 a.m. will not meet that day.

Bishop, a nephew of Frank C. Button, the first president, has been a strong supporter of MSU through the years. He has watched the campus grow from a few frame buildings to the bricks and mortar of today. The Adron Doran University Center stands partly on land once owned by his family. C.E. Bishop Drug, the family business, was a popular spot for students.

A member of the board of directors of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association, he is a charter member of the Kiwanis Club. A former two-term Morehead City Councilman, he also is a nationally-known breeder of black angus cattle. Active in the Republican Party leadership, he is a former member of the state parole board. He is the oldest living member of the First Baptist Church of Morehead.

Huffman, who died Aug. 25, 1993, was a graduate of Breckinridge School and earned his B.S. degree in industrial education and business education from MSU. Named director of Printing Services in 1967, he also taught journalism classes and advised the yearbook staff.

He served as adviser to MSU's Kentucky Gamma Chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity and its predecessor, The Campus Club, for nearly three decades. His work with the fraternity earned him SAE's highest national honor, the Distinguished Service Award, in 1991. A regional SAE president for 12 years, he was a faculty member of the SAE Leadership School for 16 years. He also was recognized on campus for his work with the Greek system, receiving the Order of Omega in 1986. He was named the 1990 Greek Adviser of the Year and that award since has been renamed in his memory.

Following the convocation is a noon luncheon at which time more than 30 new MSU Fellows and other benefactors of the University will be honored.

Founders Day begins with a special breakfast for retired faculty and staff at which Dr. Eaglin will recognize new retirees. Planned at 2 p.m. is the dedication of the W. Paul and Lucille C. Little Bell Tower, located in front of Camden-Carroll Library. The program will include a demonstration of the electronic carillon and birthday cake and ice cream on the lawn of the nearby President's Home. In case of rain, the program will be held in ADUC.

Capping the day will be the Alumni Awards Dinner at 6:30 p.m., highlighted by the induction of three new members into the Alumni Hall of Fame: Dr. Adron Doran, who served as MSU president from 1954 to 1977; U.S. Army Col. Mark W. Dille (Class of 1973), chief of staff, 3rd Corps Support Command in Weisbaden, Germany, and Linda Steiner (Class of 1984), president and executive producer of 1.85 Film Productions and former vice president of ABC Children's Entertainment.

Luncheon tickets are $6 per person, while those for dinner will be $15 each. Tickets will be available in the Office of Student Activities on the second floor of ADUC, at the Alumni Center and the MSU Foundation in the Palmer Development House. Tickets must be picked up no later than 4:30 p.m. on Tuesday, April 1. The Crager Room, ADUC, will be site for all meal events.

Additional information on tickets or Founders Day events may be obtained by calling the Alumni Center at (606) 783-2080 or toll-free at 1-800-783-2586 and the MSU Foundation at (606) 783-2031 or toll-free at 1-800-833-4483.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Hideko Asada wanted to go to college in another country; now she is a graduate student at Morehead State University.

A native of Okasaki, Japan, Asada is attending MSU on a Rotary Foundation Ambassadorial Scholarship.

The scholarships were designed for the exchange of information and to build good will and understanding between peoples of the world, according to Dr. Robert Haynes of Mt. Sterling, chairperson of District 6740 Ambassadorial Scholarship Committee. "MSU was a good choice because of its strong interest in international students," he said.

As the Rotary Scholar, Asada will receive a total of $20,000 over a two-year period which may be used for air fare, travel money, food, tuition and housing. Dr. Haynes presented the monetary award to Asada shortly after her arrival in Kentucky earlier this semester.

Jo Anne Setser, a member of the Morehead Rotary Club, will serve as Asada's adviser and host family while she is attending MSU. Setser recalls learning how to say her name as being the first order of business when they met. "For Hideko, she had to adjust to the weather because it is much colder here than in her home country," Setser said.

But living in the U.S. was not a totally new experience for Asada. Last year, she studied at Indiana University of Pennsylvania where she earned a B.A. degree. During the next two years she hopes to complete a master's degree in sociology.

"The people are much friendlier here," she said. "I'm very interested in people and trying to help others." Upon graduation, she hopes to return to her homeland to teach.

As part of her obligations, Asada will visit rotary clubs in the district and share her culture during the two years she's studying at MSU. She has already visited Morehead's Rotary Club.

Since 1990, six area students have received scholarships through District 6740 to study abroad in such locations as Argentina, Hong Kong, and Germany. In 1990, Lesia Brewer of Morehead studied in Avignon, France. She now teaches French at Paul Blazer High School in Ashland and has served in orientation programs for outgoing Ambassadorial Scholars for four consecutive years.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Dan Lacy, vice president for corporate communications at Ashland Inc., will be the guest speaker at the Phi Kappa Phi honor society's annual celebration of academic excellence banquet on Thursday, April 10, on the Morehead State University campus.

The program will begin at 6 p.m. in the Crager Room, Adron Doran University Center. Tickets are $12 per person and must be reserved in advance.

Lacy has been involved in communications management for more than 25 years including media relations, advertising, employee and shareholder communications, issues analysis, constituent and grassroots communications and community affairs. Under his leadership, Ashland Inc. has devoted its corporate advertising efforts to educational themes. Some of the related programs include Ashland's Teacher Achievement Awards, which recognizes outstanding educators in four states; Day on Campus, which exposes students to the advantages and opportunities of a college education, and Business-Education Partnerships, which challenges business to become active in the educational process.

Active in a number of organizations that support education, Lacy currently serves on the advisory council of the New American Schools, is a member of the Communications Council of the Conference Board and chair of the Public Information Committee of the Partnership for Kentucky Schools. He completed a two-year term as chair of the Kentucky Advocates for Higher Education and remains a member of its board. He also has served on the Kentucky Council of Higher Education's Task Force on Pre-College Curriculum and as an executive director of Leadership Kentucky.

An MSU alumnus, Lacy was inducted into the University's Alumni Hall of Fame in 1988. He has served both as director and president of the MSU Foundation, Inc. and on the Board of Directors of the Kentucky Folk Art Center.

Also during the evening, ceremonies will be held for new initiates and MSU freshmen, who achieved a perfect 4.0 grade point average last semester, will be recognized.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---WMKY 90.3 F.M., listener-supported radio from Morehead State University, will hold a spring on-air fund drive during the week of April 5-11. With a theme of "A Community of Friends," the station hopes to achieve its goal of receiving 200 calls from new donors as well as additional gifts from current supporters.

This is the station's first spring fund raiser in several years, according to Angela Mullins, WMKY development and promotions director. "We're doing two fund raisers this year because of our federal funding situation," she said. "In order to qualify for future grants from the Corporation of Public Broadcasting (CPB), we must show that a strong number of our listeners support our service, so we're emphasizing the number of donors instead of dollars during this drive. Every gift is important whether it's $10 or $100," she added.

Two of WMKY's locally-produced shows will celebrate anniversaries during the drive. "Friends and Folk" will feature a special two-hour sixth anniversary show at 3 p.m., on Saturday, April 5. The show's co-hosts, Steve Young, Glenn Buckner and Harvey Pennington, play a variety of traditional and contemporary folk music each week. Later that day at 10 p.m., "Nothin' But the Blues" will celebrate its fifth year on the air. Host Paul Hitchcock, WMKY's music and production director, will focus on new releases of various blues styles including Piedmont, Delta, Chicago and Texas.

Throughout the week, the on-air campaign also will feature special shows from national favorites such as "Car Talk" and "World Cafe," as well as listeners from around the region as in-studio guests. Donors will receive WMKY's quarterly program guide and a car window decal. WMKY T-shirts are also available.

Contributions may be sent to the WMKY Fund, Palmer Development House, MSU, Morehead, KY 40351-1689, or call WMKY at (606) 783-2001 or 1-800-286-WMKY.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University's Faculty Brass Quintet will present a concert on Thursday, April 10, at 8 p.m. in Duncan Recital Hall on the campus.

In the concert, which is free and open to the public, the group will perform works by Ewazen and Ewald and feature the world premiere of a composition by Joseph Klein.

Members of the brass quintet and instruments include:

Stacy Baker, assistant professor, tuba. She graduated summa cum laude as a James B. Angell Scholar from the University of Michigan where she received master's and bachelor's degrees in music performance. She is currently completing her DMA degree in performance with a minor in music education/technology at the University of Illinois.

Dr. Jon Burgess, associate professor, trumpet. Formerly a trumpet instructor at the University of Tampa, he received degrees from the University of Illinois, University of Kansas and Arizona State University. He has also performed with the National Repertory Orchestra and Phoenix Symphony and toured with the Kings Brass for two years.

Deb Eastwood, a visiting artist, trumpet. She holds degrees from James Madison University in Virginia and the Peabody Conservatory of Music in Maryland and is working on her DMA in performance at the University of Illinois.

Dr. Andrew Glendening, assistant professor, trombone. Formerly a faculty member at Northeastern Illinois University, he received degrees from the Oberlin College Conservatory of Music and Indiana University School of Music. He has premiered numerous new compositions for trombone throughout the country.

L. Curtis Hammond, assistant professor, horn. A former member of numerous orchestras, he received his Bachelor of Music degree from the University of Nebraska and his Master of Music degree with the Artist Diploma from the Cleveland Institute of Music. He is working on his DMA at Florida State University. He has performed with numerous groups including the Cleveland Orchestra, Ohio Chamber Orchestra, Florida National Repertory Orchestra and New Sousa Band.

The group maintains an active schedule throughout the region. They recently completed a tour of Ohio, performed at the 1997 Kentucky Music Educators Conference in Louisville, and will perform at the Southern Division Music Educators Conference in Nashville later this month.

The quintet also sponsors an annual Summer Brass Experience, a workshop for high school brass band students. This year's session is set for June 8-13 and will be held on the MSU campus.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Two Morehead State University student organizations will host an African/African-American Banquet on Tuesday, April 15, on the campus.

The festivities, coordinated by MSU's Office of Minority Student Affairs and sponsored by the Black Student Coalition and the Pan-African Student Congress, will begin at 8:30 p.m. in the Crager Room, Adron Doran University Center.

Admission is $5 or a covered dish. Reservations, which must be made before April 7, are available by calling (606) 783-2668. Although not required, everyone is encouraged to wear African dress.

The evening will be a celebration of African culture, according to Samuel Were, Kenya freshman and president of the Pan-African Student Congress. "Along with the food and music, we will share the history and customs of our heritage as well as the contributions Africans have made to world civilization," he said.

The two organizations decided to join forces to foster a better understanding and working relationship between African and African-American students, Were noted.

Additional information on the evening is available from Were at 783-4626, Orlando Allen, Louisville senior and president of the Black Student Coalition, at 783-4391, or La'Tonya Merriweather, Louisville junior, at 783-4303.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Two Morehead State University faculty members have works in "Exhibition 280" which will be on display through June 8 at the Huntington (W.Va.) Museum of Art.

Among the artists chosen to exhibit are Robert Franzini, interim chair of the Department of Art, and Gary Mesa-Gaido, assistant professor of art. The exhibition showcases recent art by regional artists from 12 different states.

A graphic artist who works predominantly in fine print and drawing media, Franzini earned his B.A. degree from Stanford University and both his M.A. and M.F. A. degrees from the University of Iowa. He has done additional study at Wichita State University, Indiana University and Grand Valley State College and holds the rank of professor at MSU.

The recipient of several awards, he has exhibited his work in numerous shows both by invitation and competition. Franzini's prints have been displayed nationwide and internationally. His prints may be found in private and public collections in many states, including California, Hawaii, Oregon, Texas and Georgia.

Mesa-Gaido, a computer graphics and painting educator, has submitted works in numerous juried shows throughout the eastern part of the United States. He also has given one-person shows in several locales including The Casements in Ormond Beach, Fla., and The Gray Gallery at Quincy University, Ill.

He earned a Master of Fine Arts degree from Ohio University in Athens in 1992 and a Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Pittsburgh (Pa.) in 1987.
